Texas Department of Insurance

Agency overview

With $265.7 billion in premiums in 2023, Texas is the nation's second largest insurance market and the sixth largest in the world.

The Texas Department of Insurance (TDI) regulates the state's insurance industry, oversees the administration of the Texas workers' compensation system, performs the duties of the State Fire Marshal's Office (SFMO), and provides administrative support to the Office of Injured Employee Counsel—a separate agency.

Duties

The Texas Insurance Code requires TDI to:

- Regulate the business of insurance in Texas.
- Protect and ensure the fair treatment of consumers.
- Ensure fair competition in the insurance industry to foster a competitive market.
- Administer the Texas workers' compensation system as provided by the Texas Labor Code.
- Ensure that the Insurance Code and other laws regarding insurance and insurance companies are executed.

The commissioner of insurance is the agency's chief executive and administrative officer. The commissioner administers and enforces state insurance laws and applicable laws that grant jurisdiction to TDI or the commissioner.

The Division of Workers' Compensation (DWC) is under the direction of the division's appointed commissioner and oversees the administration and operation of the Texas workers' compensation system. The division monitors compliance of all parties, taking enforcement action when necessary to make sure workers' compensation regulations are implemented and enforced.

The governor, with advice and consent of the Texas Senate, appoints both the commissioner of insurance and the commissioner of workers' compensation for two-year terms.

Agency mission

TDI's mission is to protect insurance consumers by regulating the industry fairly and diligently, promoting a stable and competitive market, and providing information that makes a difference.

- Windstorm inspection staff are along the coast to inspect and certify that construction meets windstorm building codes.
- Title examiners live and work throughout the state.
- Workers' compensation offices are in areas with high demand for claims services, customer service, and dispute resolution.

Barnard also pleaded guilty to aggravated identity theft. The defendants, through a non-existent laboratory (TC Diagnostics LLC), billed health insurers for COVID-19 tests that were not performed. Their sentences were:
 - Barnard: 84 months in federal prison and 24 months supervised release.
 - Clampit: 60 months in federal prison and 24 months supervised release.
 - Gray: 54 months in federal prison and 12 months supervised release.
 - Hogg: 30 months in federal prison and 12 months of supervised release.
- In El Paso County, Luis Sandoval was sentenced to 108 months of deferred adjudication and 400 hours of community service after pleading guilty to third-degree fraudulent use or possession of identifying information, insurance fraud, and theft. Sandoval, a licensed agent, submitted forged life insurance applications to an insurer to get advanced commissions, without the knowledge or consent of the insureds. His agent license was permanently revoked.
- In Travis County, Genelle Naylor was sentenced to 120 months deferred adjudication after pleading guilty to second-degree theft. Naylor, a licensed adjuster, used her position and access to claims to issue unauthorized payments to herself and multiple associates for claims in which they were not involved. Naylor was ordered to surrender her adjuster license and pay $276,141 in restitution.

- Revoked two affiliated title insurance agency licenses—including the individual licenses of the involved escrow officers—for using escrow funds for personal use and operating expenses.
- Removed executive officers from a life insurer for filing false financial statements with TDI.
- Ordered HMOs and health insurers to pay more than $500,000 in administrative penalties for violations found during examinations.
- Ordered an unauthorized property management business to cease and desist engaging in the business of insurance and pay a $195,000 penalty.
- A managing general agent agreed to surrender its license following an examination finding that, together with the underwriting insurer, the agent didn't pay auto claims timely, miscalculated prompt pay interest on late-paid claims, and used an unlicensed adjusting firm. Both the managing general agent and the insurer were ordered to make restitution to certain qualifying claimants and the insurer was ordered to pay a $150,000 penalty.

Hearings

Hearings includes dispute processing, benefit review conferences, contested case hearings, and the Appeals Panel. The section oversees the administrative dispute resolution system that determines workers' compensation benefits.

Dispute processing coordinates docketing and communication with external participants throughout dispute resolution. The dispute process begins with an informal mediated conference, called a benefit review conference, to identify disputed issues and help parties reach an agreement. If the parties can't reach an agreement, the dispute advances to a formal hearing, where an administrative law judge issues a decision based on the parties' evidence and arguments. If either party disagrees with the judge's application of the law, they may appeal the decision to the Appeals Panel for legal review.

Fiscal year highlights

- Increased agreement rates by fostering early collaboration and improving processes for identifying complex cases.
- Reduced the average number of days to resolve disputes by 10%, even as rule changes added up to 17 days to the process.
- Continued a statewide outreach program—called Brown Bag Lunches—showcasing executive staff transparency and accessibility.
- Restructured statewide management to increase availability and visibility in field offices.
- Reintegrated the Appeals Panel to streamline administrative processes, allowing improved resource allocation and ensuring consistency across the dispute resolution system.
